A Time For Courage

There is no disguising the fact that conditions throughout the Western Provinces of Canada are not, at the present time, very encouraging and many people are faced with a difficult winter and some hardship. In this respect the Canadian Prairie Provinces are not so very different from other parts of the Dominion and other countries throughout the world. There is, however, no real reason why the people of the West should lose heart and indulge in blue ruin pessimistic talk. Such an attitude will not help, but will rather operate to further hinder a return to better times and conditions.

Present conditions in the West are bound to be of a temporary character and no country in the world is capable of more rapid recovery than the Canadian Prairie West. One misfortune and untoward occurrence after another played havoc with agricultural production and marketing this year, and while it may be hard for many families to maintain themselves this winter, they will be no worse, and in the vast majority of cases very much better, than the early pioneers of this country and of Ontario and the Western States had to bear. Yet these earlier pioneers held on, revealing a determination and courage which in due course brought its reward, and thousands of them are today enjoying wealth or a secure and comfortable livelihood. Yet they experienced harder and apparently more hopeless conditions than those with which the people of today are confronted.

The next few months call for the exercise of certain qualities by all people. First and foremost, there must be individual courage, determination and pluck; the putting forth of every possible effort to meet and overcome adverse conditions; an insistent turning away from the dark side of the picture and a constant hunt for the silver lining and contemplation of all the brighter and more hopeful features of the situation. Secondly, there is need for the development of a spirit of helpfulness, even to the extent of personal sacrifice, in order that the more fortunately placed ones will rally to the assistance of the less fortunate. In a word, these more difficult times should develop a strong community spirit of helpfulness and co-operation.

While nobody ever welcomes adversity, it must be remembered that it is in this hard school that really strong men and women are developed. When everything in life moves smoothly, without any great difficulty or obstacle in the way, the individual becomes soft, loses initiative, becomes weak and lacking in character. It is the struggle to overcome, to achieve, to win, that makes real men and creates strong characters. The man who, overwhelmed by adversity, lies down, is a failure and would ultimately prove a failure even under normal and less trying conditions. But "the man worth while is the man who can smile when everything goes dead wrong." And he is the man who will triumph in the end, and in the more successful and brighter days to come will look back with grim satisfaction and a deep joy to the winter in which he struggled and achieved, and will not only worldly success, but strength of character to meet whatever life might bring to him.

Governor-General Given Degree

Lord Byng Honored by University at Toronto

The honorary degree of doctor of laws was conferred upon Lord Byng, governor-general of Canada, by the University of Toronto. Following the ceremony, Lord Byng expressed appreciation of the honor and said that in the universities of Canada more than in any other place, were to be found all that was best and most inspiring in the rising generation.

Civilization and modern social needs, Lord Byng said, had advanced past the time when faith and strong arm were all that was required of a man. He emphasized the importance of science and declared he believed the present horrors of war were due quite as much from the disappearance of the brain worker in control as from any other cause.

Money Not Saved

Figures Show That Americans Do Not Hoard Money

A Washington statistician reports that as against $118,000,000 the country spent for the army $750,000,000 has gone on candy and chewing gum. Sweetens the discontent with military expenditures, does it not?

And $534,000,000 for soda and other soft drinks and $850,000,000 for perfume, jewelry, silk stockings and kindred luxuries. And the pin money pleasantly expended on theatres, concerts and baseball was $897,000,000. And, above all, the tribute to My Lady Nicotine cost her devotees $1,151,000,000!

Doubtless these figures tend to prove something, one knows not what. They certainly show that Americans are not excessive hoarders and ought to bring a little more sense of proportion to indignant taxpayers. It is not fair to assume that people are unduly self-indulgent. Yet it does make one dizzy to think of a billion gone up in smoke, not the smoke of the battlefields, however—New York Tribune.

Toe Walking Develops Strength

Walking on the heel is the attitude of civility and good breeding. The people of the woods, who are much superior in their muscular development, all walk on the toe, as do the lower animals. Taking this suggestion, a French doctor is prescribing a course of toe walking for patients who are deficient in chest development.

THE CAUSE OF BACKACHE

Only in Rare Cases Does Backache Mean Kidney Trouble

Every muscle in the body needs constantly a supply of rich red blood in proportion to the work it does. The kidneys are the great purifiers of the blood and have to bear a heavy strain and have but little rest. When the blood is thin they lack nourishment and the result is a sensation of pain in those muscles. Some people think pain in the back means kidney trouble, but the best medical authorities agree that backache seldom or never has anything to do with the kidneys. Organic kidney disease may have progressed to a critical point without developing a pain in the back. This being the case, pain in the back should always lead the sufferer to look to the condition of his blood. It will be found in most cases that the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to build up the blood will stop the sensation of pain in the flaccid muscles of the back. How much better it is to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for the blood than to give way to unreasonable alarm about your kidneys. If you suspect your kidneys, any doctor can make tests in ten minutes that will set your fears at rest, or tell you the worst. But in any event to be perfectly healthy you must keep the blood in the best condition for its purpose no other medicine can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Charity

Wearily Hobo—"May I cut your grass for a meal, ma'am?" Lady of the House—"Oh, don't trouble to cut it. You're welcome to eat it off the ground."

The ease with which corns and warts can be removed by Hollister's Corn Remover is its strongest recommendation. It seldom fails.

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that it is used for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its base is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; alleviating Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. Making a Speech

A Scottish minister was once asked how long he would require to prepare a speech. "That depends," he said, "upon how much time I am to occupy in its delivery. If I am to speak for a quarter of an hour I should like a week to prepare; if I am to speak for half an hour, three days will do; if I am to go on as long as I like, I am ready now."—Belfast Weekly News.

Miller's Worm Powders, being in demand everywhere, can be got at any chemist's or drug shop, at very small cost. They are a reliable remedy for worm troubles and can be fully relied upon to expel worms from the system and abate the sufferings that result therefrom. There are many mothers that rejoice that they found available so effective a remedy for the relief of their children.

Canadian National Giving Reduced Rates For Home Visitors

As the Christmas Holiday Season approaches many people in the West look forward to spending some time with relatives and friends in the East.

Taking this into consideration, the Canadian National Railways have made arrangements to issue tickets at greatly reduced rates from stations in Alberta, Saskatchewan and Winnipeg West in Manitoba, to any point in Eastern Canada. These tickets will be sold from December 1st, 1921, to January 15th, 1922, and are good for return within three months from date of issue. Any Canadian National Railway Agent will be glad to supply further information, and, if you desire, will assist in planning your trip.

He was giving his new aeroplane a trial, and all went well until he found himself directly over a football ground, where a match was in progress. There was a sharp report, and a few minutes later he was lying on the ground with a group of club officials bending over him.

"You don't say? Well, see and make him go through with the expenses. If I was travelling for Jack Harris I wouldn't be sleeping in a hen-coop like this. He's worth yards of money, ain't he?"

"Oh, some, I guess, but perhaps not so much more'n his neighbours." "Nothing personal, Riles. You've got to get over that narrowness if you're going to get into the bigger game. I've been telling you about it. I don't care how much you're worth—how much is Harris bringing with him?"

"Couple of hundred dollars, likely." "I wouldn't show my hand for that. How much can he raise?"

"Well, supposin' he sold the farm—"

"Now don't do any reckless supposing. Will he sell the farm?"

"Sure, he'll sell it if he sees some things better."

"How much can he get for it?"

"Thirty or forty thousand, Hiram."

"That's more like a stake. Hiram, it's up to you and me to show him something better—and to show it to him when he's alone."

"You're tired to-night. Sleep it out, and we'll drive over to the ranch to-morrow together. We ought to pick something better than a homestead out of this."

CHAPTER XIII.

Setting the Trap

Notwithstanding the exhaustion occasioned by his journey Riles was early about. The hotel bed was strange to him, and the noises that

Backache

Backache is the outstanding symptom of kidney disease. Women often make the mistake of attributing other causes and overlook the derangement of the kidneys until serious developments have made it difficult to obtain permanent relief.

This letter points to a treatment which has been so thoroughly tried and proven so effective in the great majority of cases that you cannot afford to overlook it when cause arises for its use.

Mrs. Albert Brunet, R.R. No. 1, Ottawa, Ont., writes:

"I have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for the past two months, having been afflicted with kidney trouble. I used two doctors' medicine previous to this, without any good results. A friend told me to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and the second box made me feel a good deal better. I have now used about six or eight boxes, and am completely relieved."

steated up from the far-room interrupted his stumbers. At least, he told himself it was the noises, but the fact is a great new thought had been sown in his brain, and had the cells whirling in dizzy speculation. The unexpected meeting with Gardiner, the latter's evident prosperity, and his frank contempt for men who made their living by labour, had left a deep impression upon Riles. He had no idea by what means Gardiner proposed that they should realize their own selves of Harris' money, and he felt some doubt about any such attempt being rewarded with success. Nevertheless, Gardiner seemed to think the matter a simple one enough, and Gardiner's good clothes and good clean were evidence of his ability to carry his plan into effect.

The streets had not yet assumed their morning activity when Riles emerged from the hotel, but the unclouded Alberta sunshine was bathing every atom of out-of-doors in a warmth and brilliance that might have found, and in very truth did find, a keen response in the inanimate objects of its affection. The jubilation of the morning sun, the sun's rays rippled through the quiet air, fragrant with the perfume of halcyon days, and balm; to the eastward the sunshine poured into broad valleys and into the great mountains, and in the west the great mountains, clad in their eternal robes of white, loomed silent and majestic in the mountain sky. Even Riles stopped to look at them, and they stirred in him an emotion that he had not known for years. It was the sense of the vastness of the world, the sense of the smallness of man, and the sense of the infinity of the universe. He thought, "I am thinking, Riles."

Riles breakfasted as soon as the dining-room was opened, eating his meal hurriedly, as he always did, albeit the Frenchified potatoes, to which he was unaccustomed, could be poised on his knife only with considerable effort. Then he sat down in an arm-chair on the shady side of the hotel to wait for Gardiner. He had decided to let his interest in the free lands which had been the purpose of his journey.

His wait was longer than he had expected, and he broke it several times by strolls about the little town. It was not the same as the same as Plainville, but that was the chief point of resemblance. True, it had its typical stores selling everything from silk to coal; its blacksmith's shops, ringing with the hammer of the busy smith on ploughshare or horseshoe; its implement agencies, with rows of gaudily-painted wagons, movers and under-constructing the thoroughfare; and the heaped smell of new binder twine floating from the hot recesses of their iron-covered storehouses; a couple of banks, occupying the best corners, and barber shops and pool-rooms in apparent excess of the needs of the population. All these he might have found in Plainville, but there were here in addition half-a-dozen real estate dealers, locators, commission-splitters, and go-between, and the number and size of the lively stables gave some clue to the amount of prospecting going on from this base of supplies. The streets were lined with traffic. Riles estimated that in two hours as many teams passed him as might be seen in Plainville in a week; long rows of box-cars were unloading on the side tracks; farmsteads and household goods of every description were piled in great heaps about the railway yards; while horses, cattle, pigs and poultry contributed to the dust and din of the settlers' operations. Great wagons, of lumber were being loaded at the lumber yards, and an unbroken procession of wagons and farm machinery of every description was wending its way slowly into the distance where lay hope of home or fortune for the new settler.

It was almost noon when Gardiner appeared on the scene. "You don't hurt yourself in the morning's," was Riles' greeting.

"Don't need to," he answered cheerily. "Besides, I'd a long session after I left you last night. No, no particular at present. I told you you had spoiled your hands for that kind of work. How d'ye like this air? Isn't that something worth breathing?"

"Good enough," said Riles. "But I didn't come out here for air."

"No, you came for land. I'm surprised you're not out bounding over the prairie in a buckboard long before this."

Riles shot a quick glance at Gardiner. But he was pulling a cigar and drinking in the warm sunshine with obvious satisfaction.

"So I might o' been, but I thought we kind o' made a date last night, didn't we?"

"Did we? Oh, yes; now I remember. But I thought perhaps you'd feel different about it in the morning. A man generally does. I don't hold you to anything you said last night, Riles."

Riles could not recall that he had said anything that committed him in any way, but Gardiner's tone implied that plainly enough.

"I ain't changed my mind," he said. "But I don't know's I said anything binding. I did it I thought we was goin' to drive out 't' your place to-day an' talk things over."

"Well, just didn't want you to lose any time over me if you thought things wouldn't work out," said Gardiner. "It takes more nerve, you know, than hosing potatoes. But you're welcome to the hospitality of the ranch, in any case. I came in on horseback, so we'll get a team at one of the stables and drive out."

In a short time they were on their way. The road skirted the river, threading its way through the narrow belt of cotton-woods and evergreen that found footing in the moist soil of the valley. Here and there, across a broad wedge of prairie, could be seen the mountains, now bathed in faint purple, and now in blue before them. A soft breeze, neither hot nor cold, but moist and fresh from the great tablelands of snow, swept gently about the travellers, but their thoughts were of neither the scenery nor the weather.

"It's all right, Riles," Gardiner was saying. "If you're prepared to stay with the deal we can pull it through—no doubt about that. That is, if Harris will sell his farm and come out here with the cash in his jeans. If he won't do that, you better get busy on your homestead proposition right away."

"He'll do it all right, if he sees something worth while. But Harris is no spring chicken, an' you'll have 't' show him something 't' his likin' before he loosens up."

"I don't care whether he loosens up or not," said Gardiner. "All I care is that he brings the money, and to me it's bills. No question, mind you. Get him out here with the cash on hand, and I'll do the loosening up, if it comes to that."

Riles was somewhat alarmed at the sinister turn of the conversation. He had no conception about getting the better of his old neighbour, the man who had entrusted him with the discharge of their joint commission, but he had considerable respect for the force, if not the principle, of the law. "You don't mean that you'd do anything—anything that wasn't right?" he said. "I wouldn't want 't' get mixed up in no scrape, y' know."

"You mean that you think more of your skin than you do of Harris' coin. Well, there's no accounting for tastes. But as for doing anything wrong—you ought to know me better than that. It will be clean and above board, and no violence if it can be helped, but if Harris is unfortunate nobody's to blame for that. Of course, if you're afraid to take a sportsman's chance for a half of forty thousand dollars, call the deal off. I've got lots of other fish to fry."

"I understand perfectly. You mean to mind piece of Harris' money served on a platter and wrapped in tissue paper, but you want somebody else to take the chance. Now, there's no any chances to speak of, but what there are you take your share. If that's a bargain it's a bargain, and if it isn't we'll talk about the weather. What d'you say?"

"It's a bargain," said Riles, "provided your plan'll work out."

"It's got to work out. It's like going up in a balloon—if it doesn't work out it's all off with the engineer. You

Theo. Baker Says It Beats Anything He's Ever Seen In His Life

"The way Tanlac has helped me is one of the greatest surprises of my life," said Theo. L. Baker, 405 Qu'Appelle Ave., Winnipeg, Man.

"My health was bad for two years. I had a terrible case of stomach trouble and could hardly eat and digest anything. My food hurt me so bad I often thought I just could not stand it, and nearly all the time I was in misery and distress on account of gas on my stomach which bloated me up tight as a drum. I was nervous and restless at night, and always seemed to be tired and worn out."

"Well, I was getting pretty weak when I got Tanlac, but it wasn't long until I was feeling better. Six bottles of Tanlac have made me feel like a brand new man. My stomach is in the best of shape, nothing I eat hurts me and I've gained several pounds in weight. All my lost strength has returned, I sleep like a log and feel good all the time. Tanlac is certainly the best medicine I ever saw or heard of."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

got to take the chance, Hiram, and then make good on the chance."

Riles chewed vigorously at his tobacco. "Explain how you're going to pull it off," he said, "an' then I'll tell you yea or no."

"Not on your life," said Gardiner. "I don't show my hand until I know who's sitting across."

There was silence for half a mile, while Riles turned the matter over in his mind. He was naturally a coward, but he was equally a snapper, and it was one instinct against the other. Avance won it, and at length he extended his hand to Gardiner. "I'm in on anything you're in on," he knew.

Britain's Safest Policy Is Making Investments Within The Empire

London.—Winston Spencer Churchill, colonial secretary, in a speech in London, said that Great Britain was able only to look to the east and the west her position would be unhappy, but in the great dominions she had outlets for her energy with objects deserving financial support, and with great potentialities for development.

Before British investors cast money upon strange shores let them, he said, be quite sure there was not in the British Empire a more certain means of securing swift and certain returns. In future they would need to draw more from imperial resources and as the years passed this process would conduce to the greater strengthening of the British position. They were well advised to repose themselves confidently on the board security of the Empire. If that failed there would be little use in any part of the world. If it stood, the money invested in the great overseas dominions would return bringing with it means for future enterprise. If they had patience, courage and wisdom, the dark days would pass and they would live to see the dawn of another era as splendid, peaceful and prosperous as that in which their fathers and grandfathers were fortunate enough to live.

Teachers Rescent Treatment

DO YOU SMOKE TOO MUCH?

There are many men on whose heart and nervous system tobacco produces the most serious results. It causes palpitation, pain in the heart, irregularity of its beat, makes the hands tremble, sets the nerves on edge, causes shortness of breath and loss of sleep.

To counteract this demoralizing influence on the heart and nerves there is no remedy so simple as

MILBURN'S

HEART AND NERVE PILLS
They make the heart beat strong and steady, restore tone and vigor to the nerves, and remove all the evil results caused by the tobacco.
Mr. Frank Luter, 71 Terrace Hill St., Bradford, Ont., writes:—"I had been troubled with palpitation of the heart for a number of years and the spells it would bother me a lot. The doctor told me it would stop on me sometime if I did not get out tobacco. When I would get a spell my heart would pound, and I would break out in a perspiration, and get so weak I would have to sit right down and quit my work; also in the night I would wake up and my heart would be going. I should say, about 120 beats a minute. About three years ago I got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, took them, and found that they did the job. I am feeling fine and have gained over 20 pounds in weight."

Teacher Fined For Flogging Scholar

Boy Was Excessively Punished For Telling Untruth

Hamilton, Ont.—Because Miss F. Cuthbert, a school teacher, strapped Sydney Painting, a pupil in her class, she was fined $10 and costs in police court. The magistrate said that the punishment administered was "a barbarous way of assaulting a boy and never should be used."

"One or two strokes would have been sufficient," declared the magistrate, "and I find that the boy has been excessively punished."

The boy testified that the teacher struck him 15 times for telling an untruth.

Sweepstakes Captured By Grain Grown From Saskatchewan Samples

Portuguese Threatened By Bolshevism

Spreading Through Large Towns and

London.—The powers are considering intervention in Portugal and the assumption of a mandate there to quell the "ugly wave of Bolshevism" which is sweeping that country, the Times declares. France, Italy and Spain, it says, favor such a move. Former upheavals in Portugal arose from the rivalry of political parties, but Bolshevism is now spreading through the large towns, the Times declares, and there have been many outrages, especially in the Province of Alentejo.

"The recent bombing of the United States consulate in Lisbon was an incident in this movement, it is said, and most of the foreign diplomats there have received letters threatening their lives."

When a number of foreign warships moored in the Tagus River at Lisbon recently, the sailors on a Portuguese gunboat are said to have been restrained only with difficulty from attempting to torpedo the Spanish vessels.

Despatches to the Times assert that the condition of the country is such that it has been very difficult to find men willing to accept posts in the cabinet.

Steamer Makes Official Trip
Victoria.—The new C.P.R. steamer, Princess Louise, built by the Wallace Shipyard, North Vancouver, has made her official trip.

The speed requirements of 16 knots called for by the contract stipulations, were more than satisfied at all stages. In three trials the vessel averaged 16.2, 16.3 and 17 knots.

Chicago.—Canadian honors did not suffer in the judging arena at the International Livestock Exposition when the Clydesdales were exhibited, but the Dominion lost a coveted championship in the grain and hay show when the wheat sweepstakes went to a Montana farmer after the crown of champion wheat grower has rested on the head of J. C. Mitchell, of Da-hinda, a well-known Saskatchewan grain grower, for two years.

Wee Donald, a Clydesdale stallion of over seven years of age, exhibited by C. A. Weaver, of Regina, won the stallion championship, and First Principal, entered by the Manitoba Department of Agriculture, was the master of senior champion. The two Canadian horses were in perfect condition for the fight in the arena, and had little trouble in beating the other senior stallions for the honors. Several firms and many other prizes were conferred upon Canadian horses in the various classes during the day.

Canada's only comfort in the loss of the wheat growing championship to George Kraft, of Bozeman, Mont., is that Mr. Kraft's wheat was grown from samples secured from Dr. Seager Wheeler, of Saskatchewan, the Canadian wheat wizard, and Dr. Wheeler is certain to share in the honors of producing such a marvellous brand of improved Marquis. Mr. Mitchell's wheat weighed 64.7 pounds to the bushel, while Kraft's wheat was but 63.6 pounds, but Mitchell's was duller in color and the berries smaller. Mr. Mitchell was the champion in 1919 and 1920, and was given the secondary honors this year.

Live Stock Breeders Should Bend Efforts To Increase Efficiency

With livestock farming acting, as it always will, as the main contributing factor in the upkeep of the fertility of the land and of a permanent type of agriculture, there should never be a time when the livestock breeder need curtail his breeding opportunities or lose sight of his goal—quality livestock for efficient production. In periods of low prices, it is sometimes necessary for the farmer to neglect the future in order to take care of the present. It may also be necessary for a farmer who lacks capital to follow methods which he would change under other conditions. But, in general, it is advisable to follow a system of livestock farming that will ensure a steady and ever-increasing return.

Such returns cannot be looked for when the breeder is handling stock of questionable productivity and working on an "in and out" system. Under such a system, he is usually "out" when he should be "in," and vice versa. On the other hand, the breeder who has high quality, productive stock and who holds on through thick and thin, reaps his reward when the law of supply and demand again raises prices to a remunerative level. It is not sufficient to stay "in." Every effort should be bent to increase the efficiency of the livestock. The breeder who did not get rid of his inefficient stock when prices for meat were at a high level missed a golden opportunity, but it is no reason why he should let them continue to eat their heads off now. It would, in many cases, be more economical to give them away than to keep them.

It would be a gloomy outlook indeed if the foregoing picture had not its sunny side as well as its dark one. Practically every improver of livestock must be continually looking outside his own herds and flocks for new blood if he is to continue effecting improvement. Therein lies the sunny side, for even the breeder of high-class stock has been hit, though not so hard as the breeder of mediocre stock, and he has had to meet the falling off in demand by a reduction of prices. As a consequence, breeding stock of a quality to bring about rapid improvement in the average herd or flock can be obtained at reasonable prices. This is particularly true of sheep and swine and to a lesser degree of cattle and horses. Any farmer or breeder who feels or knows that he is handicapped under the present conditions, by the lack of productivity or quality in his stock, should take steps immediately to secure improved sires to put at the head of his herds and flocks. Undoubtedly, there is no way in which improvement can be wrought more thoroughly and more economically than through the use of improved sires. If you have been using scrubs, replace them by pure-breds of the highest quality obtainable. If you have been using pure-bred sires, have given their progeny a decent chance and have not achieved any improvement, then the pure-breds used could not have been of desirable type and quality. Discard them, and when procuring others, demand and get even though at greater cost, sires from proven ancestry.

While the use of top-notch sires is one of the best methods of improvement where capital is limited, the introduction of a few choice females into the herd or flock, where capital will permit, will bring about the desired improvement much earlier. Let every person, then, who calls himself or herself a "breeder of livestock"—than which there is no nobler art—bend every effort and grasp the present opportunity to put their herds and flocks into a state of efficiency that will enable them to produce economically throughout any kind of a seasonal or market situation. Bring back industry by being industrious. It is possible to be industrious and not accomplish anything, but not so with the efficiently industrious.

The cotton weavers of the little city of Galesburg in France first hit upon the idea of dyeing the thread before it was woven and then placing it in the loom so that it would form a pattern of stripes and checks. Hence the dainty and pretty gingham so popular today.

Dinner For Juvenile Exhibitors

Contestants at Calgary Winter Fair
Guests of Honor

Eighty healthy, husky, rosy-cheeked girls and boys from farms in Alberta, were the guests of honor at a dinner tendered to them at Calgary. The children thus honored were those who were exhibitors in the baby beef, baby lamb and pig feeding contests held at the Calgary Winter Fair just closed.

It was an occasion significant of what is being done in Alberta today to interest the girls and boys on the farms in farm life. Every one of these juvenile exhibitors present at the dinner had brought his or her yearling calf or pig lamb or pig to the show, and many of them had secured valuable prizes. One little girl, Miss Muriel Pritchard, of Camrose, had won not only a handsome gold wrist watch, but a cheque "big enough to buy a farm of her own."

Frozen Dessert Sent From London to Amsterdam

A party of Dutchmen visiting London were greatly pleased with a well-known make of ice-cream. To secure some for a dinner they were holding at Amsterdam, the Royal Dutch Air Service was approached.

Ice-cream bought in London before noon was packed in a container which was in turn placed in a bucket, the intervening space being filled with ice. The package left the London airport shortly after 1 p.m., on one of the Dutch monoplane expresses, and was delivered in Amsterdam in ample time for its proper place on the menu.

Meat-Eating Birds Live Longest

Eagles and Crows Live On Average 100 Years

An investigation has been made into the subject of the longevity of birds. With one notable exception, the carion, or meat-eating birds are the longest lived. The exception is the swan. The average ages of some of the best-known birds are given in the following list: Blackbird lives 12 years; black cap, 15 years; canary, 24; crane, 24; crow, 100; eagle, 100; fowl (common), 58; hawk, 13; heron, 23; night-hawk, 18; parrot, 60; partridge, 15; peacock, 24; pelican, 50; pheasant, 15; pigeon, 20; raven, 100; robin, 13; skylark, 20; sparrowhawk, 40; swan, 100; thrush, 10; and wren, 3 years.

Make Hens Exercise

Very Necessary When Birds Are Housed For Winter

Feed grain in a deep litter on the floor and make the hens exercise for it. This will be necessary when foraging stops and hens are housed. The mash may be fed either wet or dry, and should be so regulated that the fowls will get about equal parts of mash and of the scratch grains. It is necessary to give the fowls plenty to eat to get good results, but the birds should always be eager for each feed. In cold weather feed about one-third of the scratch grains in the morning and two-thirds at night. In this way the hens are forced to exercise more than if they receive all the grain they desire at the morning feed.

Very Far Away

Field-Marshal Sir Henry Wilson tells a story of a three-times wounded soldier, who listened to a conscientious objector and pacifist tub-thumping at the Marble Arch. The soldier asked him why he was not in khaki. Said the "conchie": "I am not one of you militarists. I am a soldier of Heaven, and God is my Colonel!" "Then," responded the soldier, "all I can say is that you are a — long way from your barracks."

One bad example spoils many good precepts.

Experimental Work Of Field Husbandry Station Helps Practical Farming

"Slaves" Help Wounded In Asiatic Turkey

Desert Tribe Said to Have Descended From Crusaders

A tribe of little men who carry very long spears has recently been described by a traveller.

They dress in gazelle skins, have a cross marked on their backs and live in the neighborhood of Mosul, in Asiatic Turkey, where they are known as Slaves.

They have no religion, but are very peaceable, and are noted for helping any wounded person, or animal.

This quaint desert tribe is supposed to be directly descended from the Crusaders. The Arabs despise them and call them wild dogs, but they are described as the "carpenters, blacksmiths and doctors for man and beast among the Bedouins."

All-Metal House In Ohio

May Not Be As Durable As Brick Or Stone

The first metal house has just been built at Canton in Ohio.

Walls, roof, doors, ceilings and cupboards, all are of steel, and the only wood used is on the floors, the noise of metal doors being too great.

It is claimed that the house is absolutely proof against fire, rats and storms. The interior walls can be plastered or papered.

The all-metal house is cool in summer and warm in winter, and it is believed that the one already built at Canton will be the pioneer of many similar houses all over the United States.

Of course the cost is greater than that of a brick or stone house, and it remains to be seen if the metal house is as durable. The question of rust is important.

Field husbandry experiments have a very direct relationship with practical farming whether the farming be grain growing, stock growing or both combined. The grain grower requires the best seed obtainable of the best varieties of wheat, oats, barley and rye. We endeavor to determine which are the best varieties and then to breed better ones and put the seed out to people who will increase it and make it available for all. The stock grower requires feed. We endeavor to serve him by determining the best kinds of forage crops and the best methods of producing them. The grower of both grain and livestock is interested in both these phases of experimental work and also in crop rotation and soil fertility. The potato and truck grower is anxious to secure the best standard varieties and to learn how to grow them to the best advantage. Our field husbandry experiments at Saskatoon are designed to serve all these classes of farms, the grain farm, the livestock farm, the diversified farm and the truck farm. If we may liken the work of the field husbandry department to the structure of a building, we would consider the experimental work as the foundation, the class room teaching as the building, the accuracy of the records including correspondence and outside teaching as the towers, porches and cupolas. In short, the experimental work is the basis upon which rests all of the other activities of the department.

The products of an experiment station consist of two things: The first is record of results. The second is seeds. Every care is used in maintaining the accuracy of the records and the purity of the seeds. Special bookkeeping methods are devised and used for the purpose of recording the results. Since there are now 5,000 separate and distinct items, it will be readily understood that this is no small task. We are constantly endeavoring to improve our system of record keeping to make it more effective and complete.

The seeds which we distribute are not only rigidly fanned and cleaned but are hand picked if need be to take out any impurity that the fanning mill fails to remove. Every lot of cereal seed sent out during the past season had been hand picked. On account of the large number of strains and varieties which we are growing, the greatest care is required to keep seeds pure. In short, it is almost impossible to do so. But we put these seeds out under a rigid guarantee that they may be returned and the purchase price will be refunded. This year not a seed came back. This record speaks volumes for the faithfulness and care of the men who did the work.

Studies Proposal To Bury Unknown Soldier

Government is Now Giving Attention to the Details

Arrangements for the burial of the unknown Canadian soldier in the Victory Tower will be carefully studied by the government. "We will have to arrange the details of bringing the body to Ottawa and also make preparations for its reception in the Victory Tower, either next Armistice Day or earlier," Sir James Loughheed, acting head of the government estates. It is not expected that the detailed programme will be completed for some time, although John Pearson, architect in charge of the new parliament building, is preparing plans of the location of the grave. This plan, it is understood, will be available for inspection shortly.

THIS WOMAN'S RECOVERY

Shows Remarkable Restorative Power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Chester, Ont.—"Before using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was a total wreck. I had terrible pains in my sides and was not regular. Finally I got so weak I could not go up stairs without stopping to rest half way up the steps. I tried two doctors but they did me no good. I saw your medicine advertised in the newspapers and thought I would give it a trial. I took four bottles of the Vegetable Compound and was restored to health. I am married, am the mother of two children, and do all my household, milk, eight cows, and do a hired man's work and enjoy the best of health. I also found Vegetable Compound a great help for my weak back before my babies were born. I recommend it to all my friends who are in need of medicine, and you may print this letter if you wish."—Mrs. HENRY JAMES, R. R. No. 4, Chester, Ontario.

It hardly seems possible that there is a woman in this country who will continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial after all the evidence that is continually being published, proving beyond contradiction that this grand old medicine has relieved more suffering among women than any other medicine in the world.

Success Or Failure

Things Worth While Require Time and Hard Work
He is usually considered a failure who attempts something and does not succeed.

But on considering the subject, does it not seem fair to include among the ranks of the failures those who obtain the privileges of success without performing the duties of which they should be the reward?

"Too many in these get-rich-quick days, demand immediate success, easy success. The past teaches us that what is to easily obtained is prized but little if at all, and also that the things worth while are not won in a minute nor by feeble effort.

Do you desire the privileges of success? Perform faithfully its duties. Do you desire the pleasures of achievement? You must suffer its pains.

Would you gather the fruits of success? You must perform the labor of planting and tending.—By Jack Mills.

LINIMENTS WON'T RELIEVE PAIN BETWEEN THE EYES

That pains not rheumatism or neuritis. Many folks think so—it is due to catarrh, plain ordinary Catarrh and needs attention right now. Catarrh is the name of a wonderful inflammation that is daily fixing up chronic cases of weak throat, bronchitis and catarrh. Every breath through the nostrils is laden with soothing, healing substances that destroy all diseased conditions in the breathing organs. It can fall help, because it goes where the trouble really exists—and doesn't attempt to cure an illness in the head or throat by means of medicine taken into the stomach. There is no suffering from a crissip cold or any winter ill that won't find benefit in Catarrhosis, which is employed by Physicians, ministers, lawyers and public men throughout many foreign lands. Large size lasts two months and costs $1.00. Small size 50c. sample size 25c. all storekeepers or the Catarrhosis Co., Montreal.

Direct Wireless From Australia to England

Premier Hughes Has Announced Details of Proposed Scheme
Premier Wm. Hughes has submitted to the Australian House of Representatives the details of the proposed direct wireless scheme between Australia and the United Kingdom, according to a cable from Reuter's Melbourne correspondent. "The Commonwealth and the Australasian Wireless Company will jointly become responsible for financing the scheme, the premier stated, and the Commonwealth will secure the controlling interest.

The Commonwealth and Australasian Company will forthwith construct high-power station to carry a direct commercial service between Australia, the United Kingdom and Canada, according to the agreement. The main trunk stations are to be erected within two years. The rates generally will be two-thirds of the existing cable charges.

Premier Hughes, in submitting the scheme to the house, added that it was an alternative to the link scheme submitted at the Imperial Conference. The cable message adds that there is little doubt that the proposed agreement will be accepted by the Australian Government.

New Use For Warships

One Serves As Fish-Drying Factory at Port Etienne

M. Albert Serrault, French Minister for the Colonies, who is now at the Washington Conference, may be able, if consulted, to give useful hints as to what to do with the old battleships. Just before he sailed for America he made a tour of the French West African colonies, and at Port Etienne he visited former French cruiser Chasse-Loup. That, which now surely serves a useful purpose. Riding at anchor in the bay, it serves as a fish-drying factory. On its decks sixty tons of fish can be dried at one time. Port Etienne is the centre of a steadily-growing dried fish industry and to the Chasse-Loup. Lobster, all fishing boats bring the cargoes to be cured and dried.

Those who are in a "run down" condition will notice that Catarrh bothers them much more than when they are in good health. It is a local disease, it is not infectious, but it is a very serious condition. LOCAL AND GENERAL

Floral local U.F.A. will hold their annual meeting, in Floral school, on Saturday, December 17th, at 2 p.m. Election of officers and other important business.

The Literary evening of the Young People's Society was held on Tuesday last. Mr. Honeysett opened the program with a solo, after which Mr. Turner gave a brief sketch of Charles Dickens' life. He emphasized the disadvantages of Dickens' early life, yet his works really live.

Mr. Nicholson then gave a splendid reading of the Christmas Carol. Time did not permit him to go into details, but he showed the different types of character of old Scrooge very well. The meeting was in all a good success.

The next meeting will be held on Monday, December 19th, instead of Tuesday, when the question "Is Prohibition a Failure?" will be the topic of a debate. Better come and hear it.

Wednesday, Dec. 21st, 1911

This is the date, so keep it open. The Xmas Tree and Entertainment which was announced last week will be held in Conrad's Hall, on Wednesday, December 21st, at 8 p.m. This is a combined affair and all are working hard to make the evening a success. There will be an Entertainment given by the children of the Public school, so come and see your own boys and girls take part. The Xmas Tree will be a feature in itself with the original "Father Xmas" in attendance. The hall will be open on the afternoon of the above date so that parents and friends can put their presents on the tree. Any and all can put presents on, so see you are not left out.
